ABSTRACT

The Sunnah of the Prophet Muhammad S.A.W. pays a great attention to the process of human education since the early stage of childhood. Every stage of human growth differs in many aspects of needs and features; hence each stage requires different method of education. The research focuses on the middle stage of childhood education (7 years old- 12 years old). It studies the concept and means of child education which covers family, school, society, mosque and mass media. Many aspects of child education such as the religious, physical, mental, psychological and social education are also highlighted in this study with the emphasis of the practice of Sunnah. In addition, the research investigates the Prophetic methods of education for the middle stage of childhood by studying and analyzing various Hadith related to the issue. The study concludes that education through example, wisdom, fun, arousal of interest and intimidation are the best methods of child education adopted by the Prophet Muhammad S.A.W.
